Jack Canuck—Storekeeper

IN Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Jack Canuck is running an immense produce business these days.

He has millions of bushels of grain; boat loads of flour; vast herds of cattle, sheep and pigs; butter, cheese and poultry and other food supplies by the trainload.

The customers at his counter are Great Britain, France and Italy, whose credit is unquestionable, but who are just now short of cash. So Jack Canuck in order to sell his goods must give his customers credit until the war is won.

It is just the same situation that confronts every storekeeper who gives farmers credit until their crops are harvested.

So Jack Canuck borrows money on Victory Bonds in order to give credit to his customers.

He pays good interest on Victory Bonds. He offers as security all Canada and everything contained therein.

By issuing Victory Bonds Jack Canuck keeps his big business going—and all the money he borrows from Canadians he spends in Canada.

We must buy Victory Bonds in order that the business of Jack Canuck shall remain prosperous and healthy.

We must buy Victory Bonds in order that our brave and gallant army shall have food, clothing and ammunition to win complete Victory over the enemies of our country.

Record Being Kept of German Persecutions

According to the latest official returns Canada has over 3,000 prisoners of war in Germany; this fact gives a discussion in the British House of Lords last week poignant interest for every Canadian, following many attacks upon the British management of this prisoners' question. It is only right to explain to the Canadian public what the British Government's case really is. Why it is asked has so little been, in view of what a British minister himself calls "Almost incredible barbarity."

In the treatment of British prisoners, especially in certain German camps, Lord Newton in stating the Government's case does not attempt to question the urgency of the matter, or to make light of what the Archbishop of Canterbury called a profound and widespread anger provoked by recent revelations, a feeling which the Prime Minister declared was far more bitter than any caused by the enemy's worst submarine and bombing outrages.

Lord Newton declared emphatically that at the close of the war the British Government intended to follow the precedent in Rumania, of proceeding against culpable commandants of prisoners' camps. Careful lists of officers have been kept, and a large number of these brutal ruffians will be held personally responsible.

When asked what about interim reprisals, Lord Newton declared that nothing had been gained by reprisals, in the past, in the interests either of the British or French prisoners, British officers and men, who, having been themselves prisoners, were expert witnesses, generally deprecated the method of immediate reprisals. Why, then, Lord Newton was asked, does the Government at this late stage threaten reprisals? Because, he replied, the whole position is completely and absolutely altered. We now hold 70,000 more able-bodied prisoners than Germany holds of ours. Moreover, the Germans now feel they are losing; consequently, they may be expected to be less harsh in their methods, and more amenable to the warnings of retribution.

Another point made by Lord Newton was that much-vaunted French method of handling the German authorities has so far, resulted in the repatriation of only 2,000 out of 150,000 French prisoners, due for release.

Married Men and Vets First to Come Back

A dispatch from Ottawa says:—"The government is ready for demobilization as soon as word is received from overseas that troops can be removed again to Canada. A complete general policy of demobilization was worked out by a committee in England which took up the question with Sir Edward Kemp, Sir Arthur Currie and the military leaders. This committee's plans were submitted to Ottawa and approved. Many of the details as to the movement could not, of course, be worked out until it was known just how long the troops would be required in Europe, or how large an army of occupation would be needed. These questions are being taken up with the authorities overseas, and as soon as word is received details can be decided.

Lieut.-Col. Arthur Sullivan, a well-known Winnipeg lawyer before the war, who was a member of the overseas committee on demobilization, and was sent to Canada to consult the authorities here on the question, has been appointed secretary of demobilization, with headquarters in Ottawa.

There are many details to be decided. For instance, there are many thousands of women in England, dependents of soldiers. It will be impossible to bring them back with the troops and it is and it is possible they may be retained first before the soldiers move.

It is also likely that the married men and veterans of the earlier contingents will be demobilized first. Railway and hawthorn may also be retained early if required by those industries. It is taken for granted that there will be a large army of occupation for some time in Germany, and that Canada will furnish part of that army. It is likely that the army as far as Canada is concerned will be entirely volunteer. It is understood that the troops, when they return to Canada will be sent to the country nearest to their homes, where they will secure their discharge. The military authorities are taking up with the soldiers re-establishment department, of which Sir James Loughheed is head, the whole policy for handling the soldiers as soon as they are discharged. Plans are entirely outlined and further conferences will be held this week.

Old Noyon

Hun Has Ruined Historical Town
Ruthlessly

After having been for months a storm centre in this summer's hurricane of war, and after many months of Hun persecution, it is doubtful if much that was fine above Noyon remains unruined or, at any rate, undamaged. And before the war the little town, with its population of about six thousand possessed considerable that was fine, much that was ancient and historically most interesting. For instance, the Hotel de Villa—the town hall, as we would call it—was a handsome edifice, built during the years from 1485 to 1524. It was commenced before Columbus crossed the Atlantic, and it was finished twelve years before Jacques Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence. The cathedral, too, was a beautiful building in the Transition style of the twelfth century. It is associated with the memory of a man whose preaching and writing have profoundly influenced the religious convictions of millions of people.

It was in this old town of Noyon, in Picardy, that John Calvin was born on July 10, 1509. His father was procurator-fiscal of the town—the solicitor for the revenue department, a law officer of the crown. He was also secretary of the diocese. His three sons were "bred ecclesiastics; and the reformer himself, while still only twelve years of age, was appointed to a chaplaincy in the cathedral church of Noyon."

Noyon is in the department of Oise, sixty-seven miles northeast of Paris by rail. It was the Novodrom of Julius Caesar's time, and in the Middle Ages a residence of two fanatics—Charlemagne and Hugo Capet.

Your Asthma, Too. The efficacy of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is not something that is merely to be hoped for; it is to be expected. It never fails to bring relief, and in your own individual case it will do the same. So universal has been the success of this far-famed cure that every one afflicted with this disease owes it to himself to try it.

White Corn Syrup for Canning
For home preserving the pure white corn syrup gives the best results. The yellow or golden corn syrup, with which many people are familiar as used on the breakfast table, may be used in preserving, but it has a distinctive flavor which makes it less suitable than white corn syrup. The fruit jar should be filled with the pure fruit, then covered with syrup and finished off in the usual way.

Vaseline
Sovereign
Face Powder

No matter how clear and colorful your complexion may be a few minutes' work or an hour in a hot kitchen will bring forth the perspiration and make the skin oily and shiny. To avoid this use Ingram's Vaseline Sovereign Face Powder. Just a light touch will stay on until washed off. And it covers the skin and hides any imperfections. See.

Ingram's Milkweed Cream is a daily preparation that is cleansing, softening and soothing to the delicate skin tissue. It also has a delicate perfume to the quality that "takes up" the skin and keeps it in a beautiful condition. Two sizes, 50c and 25c. At your druggist's you will find a complete line of Ingram's toilet aids and skin products for the face, hair, etc.

Feet of Birds

Generally Related to the Length of Their Necks

The foot of a bird shares with the wing the duties of locomotion. Birds with highly developed wings have large feet. The swallow, an aerial bird, is an example. The chimney-sweep has a tiny foot, but enormously developed wings, and if placed on a flat surface is unable to support itself. All aquatic and terrestrial birds have excellent developed feet. The loon is so thoroughly aquatic that it cannot walk on land without the support of its breast and wings. The sea snipe has a foot especially fitted for swimming, and can be found over a hundred miles off the Atlantic coast in flocks of hundreds of thousands, perfectly at home in the water.

The foot is generally related to the length of the neck. The flamingo wades out into the water and is able to duck its head and secure its food with the aid of its particularly constructed neck. In swimming prey the foot also plays an important part. The great horned owl and the duck hawk have enormous grasping power in their claws. In our grouse or partridge a horny, fringe-like growth appears on the toes late in the fall, serving as a sort of snow shoe during the winter, by which the bird is enabled to walk on the surface of the snow. This growth is shed in the spring.

Pain Pleas Before It—There is more virtue in a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil as a subduer of pain than in a gallon of cod liver oil. The public know this and there are few households throughout the world in which it is not to be found. Thirty years of use has familiarized the people with it, and made it a household medicine throughout the western world.

German Efficiency Outwitted

One That The Hun Could Not See

So-called German efficiency finds more than its equal in American ingenuity. When American prisoners, who are placed in the various forts throughout Germany, seek to write letters to their native country, their messages must undergo the rigid inspection of the efficient German censor, who often believes that he is permitting only "good news" to pass through. Real descriptions of the situation are eluded.

A son of a wealthy Philadelphia, who has been captured recently, sent word to his father in Philadelphia on the whole were very satisfactory. American prisoners were being treated well but they were not much better back in Laurel Hill. The young man's relatives were able to understand the meaning of Laurel Hill is a cemetery not far from home. Splendid treatment!—From the Wall Street Journal.

Enough for Two

Nora had been guilty of what was considered an indiscretion, so the mistress of the house had her on the carpet. If such a thing occurs again, Nora, she said, she shall have to get another servant. Whereupon Nora, with a grin, responded: "I can do your work for two of us."

Corns and warts disappear when treated with Holloway's Corn Cure without leaving a scar.

Novel Target Employed by Gunners

In practicing aerial gunnery, cadets at one of the flying schools direct streams of bullets at an unusual ground target which is placed high in the upper atmosphere. It is a water target of the shape and general size of an aeroplane, and is built within a limestone circle. The splashing of the water indicates to the gunner that he is hitting the mark.

Wood Substitute for Cotton

Of Great Advantage in Present Emergency

A paper mill at Neenah, Wis., is making a product which is like wood, and is being used in the present emergency. It is a substitute for absorbent cotton made from ground wood. It is being turned out at the rate of three or four tons a day, and advantages are claimed from the fact that it can be applied directly to open wounds, and also the cheapness with which it can be produced and stored. It appears in the form of a cotton batting, usually produced except that a ground wood is spun or rolled out upon the machines, in the form of sheets of fine pure wood of gossamer thinness, and of such lightness in proportion to its bulk that four thousand pounds can be loaded in the ordinary freight car. Layer upon layer of these sheets are placed one upon the other, simulating very closely the appearance of the cotton product.

In America the highest altitude of an airplane in 1917 was made by Capt. Bragdon W. It was reached at an altitude of 22,000 feet, about four miles. In Europe no better record has been made. That of Guido, an Italian, who flew to 25,100 feet in 1916.

Good Price for Furs

White Foxes Plentiful Along Arctic Coast

Officers of the R. N. W. M. F. at Herschel Island and Fort McPherson, report that white foxes were plentiful along the coast last winter, and large numbers of pelts have been taken by the natives. In the delta also a good catch of fur is reported. In the vicinity of Fort McPherson, foxes and martens were the principal furs caught in any quantity.

Competition by American traders has enhanced the price of fur. Caribou have been plentiful, thus providing food for the natives. Traders from Fort Yukon and elsewhere bought furs last winter for cash. These men were paying big prices for pelts and a large quantity of fur was taken by them to United States territory.

LIFT YOUR CORNS
OFF WITH FINGERS

How to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for corns will never again open, so long as you lift them through your fingers, according to this Cincinnati authority.

He says that a few drops of the drug called frezzone, applied directly after a trachea, acting corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn root and all, lifts right out.

This drug dries at once and simply shrivels the corn or callus, without even irritating the surrounding tissue.

A small bottle of frezzone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

If your druggist hasn't stocked this new drug yet, let him get you a small bottle of frezzone for you from his wholesale drug house.

Trench Making in the Sandy Desert

Mr. W. T. Massey writes in his book, "Desert Camouflage": "To make a trench three feet wide you have to open a deep hole of ground, put in battens with canvas backs and anchor them, and then refill the space with sand. The excavated soil, as it always does at intervals from March to May, is a dangerous matter. Sometimes when the wind was carrying with it so much of the desert that the sun was hidden by the dust clouds, the temperature went up to 115 and 120 degrees, one's skin became hot, lips crackled, and the daily scanty allowance of water did not relieve parched throats for an hour."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than in all other diseases put together. Doctors prescribed local remedies, but for years it was cured with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a disease of the bladder, and is a constitutional condition and therefore requires a constitutional cure.

Local cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., of Chicago, is a constitutional remedy taken internally and acts through the blood. It is a blood purifier, and cures the system. Hundreds of dollars' reward is offered for any case of Catarrh of the Bladder cured by this remedy. Send for circulars and testimonials. Write to Dr. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, sent by Druggists, etc.

Needed the Rain

During a very dry season a fruit grower was rejoicing because of the fruit grower. The next day he saw one of his men leaving the house. "Why don't you stay in out of the rain?" inquired the fruit grower. "Oh, that's all right!" replied the man. "A little dew like this doesn't bother me a bit; I can work away just the same."

That isn't the point! exclaimed the fruit grower. The next day it rains you come into the house. I want all the water on the land!"

The Sword is Sheathed

Modern Devices Have Supplanted Old Weapon

There is a curious kind of irony in the fact that a weapon once so universal as the sword should now have become hardly more than a metaphor. We speak, and write, of "victory by the sword," of "a peace imposed by the sword," though the sword is now more a decorative object for parade functions than a piece of tempered steel for killing purposes. Shrapnel, high explosives, poison gas, and the rest of the too ingenious modern devices have left the more heroic weapon to rust in its sheath. Yet it will probably never be a picture, and has a "bite" in it reach to other word processes. Picturesque poets are not likely to substitute anything else for it.—London Daily Chronicle.

Local and General:

Mrs. D. Ontkes arrived home on Tuesday after spending a lengthy vacation in the States.

Miss May Whitfield was over from Nanton spending the week end with her parents.

News was received in town on Monday afternoon that Pte. James Moss, who enlisted in Crossfield had been killed in action.

The many friends of Mrs. F. T. Williams, of Delia, late of Crossfield will be sorry to hear of her death, also of her eldest son Laurence, which took place at the beginning of this week.

The local workers in connection with the Victory Loan are still forging ahead. Crossfield has been awarded the flag for getting its allotted portion, also crowns, one for each 25 per cent over its quota.

See Dr. M. Mecklenburg, the Eye Sight Expert about your eyes, will again be at the Hotel, Crossfield, on Saturday, November 30th.

The "Flue" epidemic in town has spent its course, at the time of going to press no new cases have been reported. The Hospital under the direction of such a capable nurse as nurse Baldwin is now at its lowest ebb, only three cases are under her charge. Nurse Burgess left for Didsbury on Sunday, and Nurse Law left for Calgary on Wednesday, and from Calgary she was drafted north to Gadsby.

We would like to know how many "kaisers and crown princes" were tied to the stake and burned on Monday last. The first public function took place on the local park site, when "the old man and his son" received a bath of coal oil, a match soon did the rest, much to the delight of the youngsters, who had one great time.

The news of the signing of an armistice by the German representatives caused quite a jubilation in town. Flags were hoisted on most of the local buildings, and the inhabitants went celebrating the event. The Reeve proclaimed a holiday on the Tuesday. The council deemed it improper to proclaim a holiday on Monday afternoon on account of a large section of the community attending the funeral of Wilbur Gordon.

The second death in connection with the prevailing epidemic took place at the local hospital on Sunday last, when Wilbur Gordon passed away about 1-55 p.m. The deceased was admitted to the hospital a few days before suffering from pneumonia, peritonitis set in and his condition became very serious. Nurse Baldwin paid him a devoted attention, and scarcely left his bed side until his death took place. He was 25 years of age, and was a member of the local Odd-Fellows, Rebekahites and Free Mason lodges. The funeral took place at the local cemetery and was attended by a large following of the above orders on Monday afternoon.

LOOKS ACROSS THE SEAS TO OUR OWN DOOM FOR MOEL STATE

GREAT INDIAN EMPIRE WILL BE SECOND CANADA

Britain, Not Satisfied With What She Has Done for India, is Hard At Work Upon the Difficult Problem of Giving the People a Greater Measure of Self-Government

Great Britain is hard at work, in spite of her gigantic war operations, upon the difficult problem of giving India a greater measure of self-government. There are 315,000,000 people concerned more than three times the population of the United States, nearly forty times over the population of Canada.

Great feudal lords, under the suzerainty of Britain, have well established rights there. The caste system is dead against the idea of the equality of men on election day, which our democracy teaches. Only a small proportion are Christian, and care much for what we mean by modern civilization.

Instead of olden time inter-tribal war, which was usually followed by burning as a religious rite; girl-baby sacrificing as a recognized thing; growing the aged in sacred rivers as a fatal duty; robbery as a fine art to be encouraged in the public welfare, Britain has brought peace, mercy, justice, quietude to India.

And the Indians are grateful and satisfied, as was speedily shown by the outbreak of war, when such a prodigious output of men, money and ancient treasures was laid at the feet of the empire's throne, as even that proud country had never dreamt of before.

Britain is not satisfied with what she has done for India, however. She wants her great eastern empire to enjoy all the blessings modernity has brought to western nations.

The Right Honorable Edwin Samuel Montagu, secretary of state for India in the British cabinet, has great plans for India's future. And for his model state he looks across seas to our own Dominion.

"Look at Canada," he says. "There you see the fulfilment of the purposes of our empire. The fact that the people in Canada are subjects of the King is a source of inspiration to them, and not a handicap on their freedom. Their loyalty, and self-sacrifice in this war prove beyond question that they have been and are satisfied with their relationship to the British empire."

We believe that a similar result can be achieved in India, and that in spite of differences in race, Indians and Europeans can and will co-operate with each other in the great work that lies before them in India. We recognize that the difficulties are enormous; for no person can see reasonably that India is yet ready for the measure of self-government existing now in Canada.

"In India there are still, unfortunately, nearly 300,000,000 people who can neither read nor write. There are differences in religion and caste which make common action on national lines difficult, and religious cleavages must be overcome before India can attain to the full status of nationhood."

"Still, experience has shown that with the spread of education prejudices disappear, and religious cleavages become less potent, and the more this process continues the sooner will India achieve the spirit of unity that characterizes the great self-governing dominions."

No greater contentment has ever been paid to our country's governmental system, and social status, than to set it before the eyes of the world, as something to be imitated in the re-formation of the vast series of kingdoms and races which make up our East Indian possessions.

Food Production in Great Britain More than 300,000 women are now engaged on the land in Great Britain.

Highlanders' Bombs

Porridge More Deadly Than Liquid Fire

A wounded officer describes the novel way in which a small party of surprised Highlanders met an unexpected enemy attack.

"The Germans got further into the trenches," he writes. "So far, indeed, they surprised a party of Highlanders in the peaceful porridge-making for a section due for night duty. The porridge-makers had no time to seize weapons. Instead they seized their precious pot of porridge and flung it in the face of the advancing foe. There were yells of rage among the scolding porridge flung among the soldiers of the porridge-makers. One of the funniest sights of the whole war, I am told, was to see a German officer trying to look dignified before his men in uniform covered with porridge. The method of repelling the attack was novel, but effective. It was more deadly than liquid fire, I fancy, for it put an end to the attack in that quarter."

"When we relieved the Highland porridge-makers we found them in a terrible funk, but they did not mind the look of the worst attack the enemy could make, but they were quaking at the prospect of being punished by hungry comrades what had happened to the porridge. I tried to console the man with whom this brain idea originated by telling him he ought to have done better. He would have none of my consolation. They did not mind the porridge, but what about Wee Jock o' me when he comes back and finds a parish? He'll hammer hell out of me when he comes back and finds a parish," he wasted on their German devil's."

Resurrection of An Old Roman Port

Another Chapter Is Added to Ostia's History

Ostia, the harbor of ancient Rome, is once more, by decision of the Italian government, to become a port, and Rome therefore once more a maritime city. To the harbor at Ostia, when Rome was mistress of the world, came the corn from Sicily and Sardinia, which, after Tiber sailing and national intolerance had let Ostia perish, was stored at Portus, the rival harbor, which also afterward fell into decay. It was the seizure of Rome's granary which caused the fall of Alaric. The city began its existence in 640 B.C., and she seems destined to add another chapter to her history.

Mustard Gas Is Filling

Fumes Remain as Long as Seventy-two Hours

A "gas" officer has been telling of the extraordinary developments which have taken place in the use of gas. "Mustard" gas has practically ousted all other forms, and under favorable conditions the atmosphere in the area in which "mustard" shells explode remains vitiated for as long as seventy-two hours. The Germans have two kinds of "mustard" gas, and when they are about to attack they wait for the fumes of their "seventy-two hour" shells to clear away, and precede the advance of their infantry with a barrage of volatile "mustard" gas, the effects of which are dissipated in about an hour.

Enslaved Belgium

Forced Labor Is Applied More Ruthlessly Than Ever

From a letter of protest addressed lately by the Belgian deputies and senators to the German government, it appears that the application of forced labor is applied more ruthlessly than ever to the civil population.

"Thousands of men in the provinces of Flanders, Hainaut, and Luxembourg have been torn from their homes and deported to Northern France, to a zone exposed to bombardments and air raids. Many have had no leave for 15 or 16 months. The regime is so bad that the majority have died from exhaustion and privation or been sent to hospital invalided for life."

Two hundred and sixty-five young boys from Mons (sixteen years, ages and schools are quoted in a list annexed to the letter) are being sent to unloading trucks in France, 110 miles behind the front. These, all under 16, some scarcely 11 or 12 years of age, are obliged to do the work of strong laborers.

One single day 250 men over fifty years of age were taken in the same direction. They remained locked up in the same place for food for twenty-four hours in bitter cold.

For several days past the Matin has been publishing prominent selections of the most common English words and a sentence in English with the exact pronunciation. The newspaper describes in English the object of this innovation as follows: "The daily Matin is giving the morning more useful than any witty word."

The paper apparently wishes to give a short English lesson every day to its readers, so that they may be able to understand the change remarks with English and U.S. soldiers, who are now seen on every hand. The daily Matin is giving the morning more useful than any witty word."

Red Cross Dogs

Wonderful Cleverness of Man's Best Friend

A letter from a young Harvard man in the United States ambulance service in France gives an interesting glimpse of the wonderful cleverness of the war dogs.

Last evening, I wrote, a couple of fellows came along to see us, every man of them, and the first of the Red Cross dogs. We were anxious to see them work, and so I ran out and hid my handkerchief. Lying down, I placed my cap under me so that the dog could not find me. They sent me the dogs off to find me. He finally discovered me, and as he was unable to find my cap, he put his nose in my pocket and pulled out my handkerchief, which he took back. A few minutes later he led his owner to the place where I lay.

I told us that this dog saved one hundred and thirty lives in one day during the battle of the Marne.

Great French Ace

Has New Methods

Capt. Madden Lures Boche Plane to Some Enemy Drone

With forty-one official victories to his credit, which in the French service suggests that he has brought down probably double that number, Capt. Madden, the second French ace, is reputed to have the most unique tactics, and for adroit manoeuvring is said to be second only to the first French ace, Rene Fonck. Madden has formed the habit of taking occasional holidays far over the German lines. His particular hobby is to settle near some enemy airfield, to play around it for a time until he has aroused his boche adversaries. They start after him, thinking that he has been brought there by engine trouble, and just at the moment when they are ready to pounce upon him he shows them with a load of incendiary bullets from his machine guns.

This method has succeeded, again and again in forcing boche aviators down, either willingly or by force of gravitation. It is said that his record of forty-one victories was made possible largely by these tactics.

Sugar Conservation Urgent

Next to saving the harvest the most urgent food service at the present moment is to save sugar, and the food board appeals to every loyal Canadian to do everything to encourage sugar conservation. This is absolutely necessary in order that our available supply of sugar be stretched until the new crop becomes available, and that it be equitably distributed.

When Edwards Bombed the Gun

One Private Swung Balance From Failure to Success

At high noon, on the 26th of September, when the guns had done their work, two divisions of the new army left their trenches behind them and walked up the slope towards Thiepval. But this is not the tale of what befell the two divisions. It only concerns the value of the private, and how for his battalion it swung the balance from possible failure to sure success. His name was Edwards, and his battalion was the 12th Middlesex.

The battalion had gone up through the straggling fruit trees, and picked their way across the shalsh entanglements of the German trenches. There the leading waves formed up, and went forward again towards the German line.

Suddenly, from in front of them came the menacing catter of a machine gun, and its bullets hail of bullets that forced them to the earth. For a few moments they paused under that blasting fire, and then one of the men rose from his place and ran along the line, a strange figure, blackened by the foul smoke of a bursting grenade. As he ran he shouted to his comrades to follow him. At last beside a dead man he found what he sought—a bucket brimful of bombs.

Edwards snatched up the bucket and ran, nothing else mattered to him but to get to his own line. He stumbled over the broken ground he flung bomb after bomb into the heart of the emplacement. And with the twelfth bomb came silence. Then he turned and came back to his comrades, and told them what he had done.

So the battalion rose and marched on again towards the second German line, and when they passed the emplacement they saw in it three German soldiers, their hands raised in surrender.

That evening the British soldiers took their tea, and the first of the men they had seen on the chalk of the hillside, lay the impracticable fortress of Thiepval.

British or German Jewellery

Industry Is One of Great Magnitude in England

The war has played havoc with English jewellery, for, besides the scattering of stores, many men in the jewellery and allied industries have been called to service. As a manufacturing country, Great Britain has remarkable advantages in precious stones, due to the unlimited sources of supply, and the fact that the German made goods out of England. The raw materials requisite to keep the industry going, precious metals and precious stones, are mostly drawn from the overseas Dominions, and in the latter country have developed huge resources and many yet undeveloped, which in the future will be a huge source of revenue.

The extent of the industry may be gathered from the fact that in Birmingham alone some 60,000 people were employed, whilst the Birmingham assay office had through its hands, during one return of a pre-war year, the stupendous number of 124 millions of articles of the total weights of nearly 400,000 ounces of gold and four and a quarter millions of silver. These figures for one centre show the magnitude of the industry where not only must the home demands in the future be met, but also the enormous demand from the overseas Dominions will have to be considered, on the broad basis of trade reciprocity.

Glucose Is Recommended

Glucose Prevents Fermentation of Fruit

If you lack sugar for preserving, try glucose. Glucose prevents fermentation of fruit, and crystallization of the syrup in jams and jellies, which some times occurs on the top of the jar. It is also used by canners in the form of syrup, put up in cans under different names, or you can buy glucose in one pound tins at a time and make the syrup at home, adding 10 pounds of sugar and 3 pounds of water to each 3 pounds of glucose. After boiling for a few minutes the syrup is ready for preserving purposes.

English Fish Catch Affected

English fish production has been seriously handicapped by the diversion of trawlers to war work. Plans are now under consideration to increase the output of dried fish from Canada to Europe.

Science taught us some years ago that there were wide but definite pastures in the sea, where the fish roam in herds and fatten themselves. Now the economies the war has forced upon the world have led to the discovery that there are also meadows to be mown and harvested with excellent financial returns for the farmers of the deep.

Out on the Pacific coast, south of the Canadian line, the big mowing machines may be encountered frequently. Ugly, big, grim grey things they were often taken for naval affairs, miniature destroyers, mine layers, or even for submarines. Alongside, or ahead of them, are the blades of the machine, cutting away the tops of the sea herbage as they slowly pass along, about a mile or two at a time, or to about half a mile or so from the above.

The kelp grows quickly as all fishermen and shore dwellers know, and the big meadows may be cut every three months, so that small coastal vessels and in-shore fishermen are not sorry to have the troublesome weeds cut. Long ago the kelp was used as a fertilizer, and is kept cut. The top-cropping machines are used to increase the growth and spread it by the sea, so that by the time the new top reaches the state it is almost impossible for ordinary low-powered machines to cut it.

It is for war purposes mainly the harvest of the ocean is reaped. Great quantities of long ago the kelp was used as a fertilizer, and is kept cut. The top-cropping machines are used to increase the growth and spread it by the sea, so that by the time the new top reaches the state it is almost impossible for ordinary low-powered machines to cut it.

After the kelp has been cut it is chopped and transferred to barges, dumped into enormous vats, mixed with water and left to ferment for ten or fifteen days. By mixing the liquid with lime and other agents and taking away the products of crystallization, one by one, the war arsenals are stocked and the explosive forces made ready against the enemy.

The most valuable chemical obtained is acetone. To be sure of having a constant supply, the British company near San Diego, Cal. This company has a large plant for the production of acetone from the kelp. It was one of the largest and most important of the war. States and carried the condition that in no circumstances was the powder to be used for anything but the British war office for use against the enemy. To make smokeless powder without acetone was worse than bricks without straw.

The base of all smokeless powder is some form of gun cotton. Gun cotton is a loose in texture, and for propellant purposes it expands and contracts, and its action cannot be predicted. It is condensed, which is accomplished by partly dissolving it in acetone, which has usually been made by destructive distillation of wood, is the base of the powder.

Then there is potash. Ever since 1914 we have been hearing about efforts to find a potash to replace the German product, which was sold so cheaply that competition was impossible.

The potash mines of Saxony probably represent dried out deposits of sea water. So that no one need wonder that potash exists in kelp. Even in Colonial days seaweed was burned for kelp. Out of the seaweed product a high grade potash invaluable in the making of black powder.

Next acetone of line, of which the military power requires all it can get, since from it can be derived the cellulose acetate. The solution of cellulose, or cotton, which is used in the making of the wings of aeroplanes—"dope"—is made from it. It comes into the shops of aircraft plant boards by the kelp route.

And then kelp yields medicine for the wounds and fars of war. Out of the acidulated liquor in which the seaweed is steeped, comes a variety of acids, including valeric, which is used to quieten the nerves of shell shock victims. The chemical is the source of the active principle of that good old fashioned soothing herb, valerian.

And iodine, so much used as an antiseptic dressing and as a counter-irritant in acute inflammation, is also obtained as our readers will know from the kelp.

All who love the sea are familiar with the kelp, which is found on all Canadian coasts. The weed anchors itself by a suction cup, which it clings to a rock at the bottom, the surge and keeps itself floating by a bladderlike attachment which it throws up the leaves, often six feet long.

We may yet come to be thankful for the kelp, which is the source of the value of the sea-meadows, for it bids fair to give us a new set of industries, and a new source of wealth for the farmers of the sea.

The Bank will trust you

Perhaps you never had an account in a bank—maybe you've never done business in a bank—hardly even cashed a cheque in one. But—that is no reason why you cannot go to a bank and borrow money to buy Victory Bonds.

If you are a steady, industrious, thrifty citizen, working and saving a part of your income, you are just the kind of person Canada's chartered banks stand ready to help to-day.

Any bank will lend you as much money as you can save during the next twelve months, with which to buy Victory Bonds.

All you have to do is to pay ten per cent. of the amount you want to buy and deposit the receipt for that ten per cent. in the bank.

The bank will lend you the 90 per cent. balance at 5½ per cent. interest and will give you a year to repay it, the interest you get on your bond being just the same as the bank charges you.

This is a fine opportunity for you to begin a real savings account, to make a first class investment and to help your country at the same time.

Why not see a banker to-day—he will tell you all about it and you will be glad of the advice and help he can give you.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY AID VICTORY LOAN

As an instance of how science and industry have co-operated in helping to win the war, it is interesting to note that Sir Thomas White, K.C.M.G., Minister of Finance, has made a special "His Master's Voice" Record for the purpose of actually informing the Canadian Public in his own voice concerning the need of the second Victory Loan.

Science has thus made it possible for the voice of the Finance Minister to be heard in thousands of places in every part of the Country at the same time. The illustration shows Sir Thomas "caught in the act" as he made his special recording at the laboratories of the Berliner Gramophone Company, Limited, Montreal.

Wise Ones Are Buying Victory Bonds

The people of southern Alberta know how to make good use of an opportunity when it is put before them. This is proven by the enormous number of subscriptions that are being made to the Victory Loan, and this in spite of the fact that the organizations in many places have been very severely handicapped by illness, not only amongst the committee members of the work, but in the districts which they cover.

To the average person the idea of lending is to do a favor. But buying a Victory Bond bearing 5½ per cent. interest and exempt from income taxation is not a favor. It is a business proposition, with the advantage all in favor of the buyer. And it will be because they are doing favors and not because they are doing favors to any one—except themselves—that our people are buying to their capacity. And the nearer we are to peace the better and the more attractive the proposition.

The canvassers who are bringing in the best results are those who make the campaign slogan "invest" instead of "lend". Everything points to southern Alberta totals reaching the ultimate objective of eight and a half millions by the time the campaign closes on November 15, for before the campaign was half way through the amounts subscribed had already gone over six million dollars. It is unfortunate that some people will be apt to miss the chance of getting in their subscriptions owing to illness in their families but canvassers are trying the best possible care they can to give everybody a chance up until Thursday of this week. The following places have won large prizes: Bassano, flag and crown; Crossfield, flag and crown; Jenner, flag and seven crowns; Claresholm, flag and three crowns; Macrae, flag; Okotoks, flag; Bow Island, flag; Hanna, flag; Calgary, flag and one crown; Blackie, flag; Halmore, flag and crown; Beckett, flag and crown; Coleman, flag and three crowns; Lebberley, flag and two crowns; Commerce, flag; Monitor, flag; Hiram, flag and three crowns; High River, flag; Castor, flag; Halkirk, flag and crown; Coaldale, Cammanga, Nanton, Lebberley had the proud distinction of being the first city to over-top its high objective and to win a bonus flag and three crowns. Very shortly after that news came in that Crow's Nest Pass also passed their high objective. Coleman also gained a flag and three crowns, and Halmore a flag and one crown.

A tiny little British Tommy, he was a very thin chip brought in, as they stood together, it was interesting to see the lanky way in which this Prussian officer looked down upon the English Tommy. He looked down upon him from every point of view—nationally, physically, socially, and intellectually, and every other way, until you wondered how there was anything left of the little Tommy. He said to him at last, very suddenly, "You fight for money, don't you?" Just fancy, you fellows, fancy a man telling a British Tommy that he fights for money—and you know how much the poor fellow gets? Twenty cents a day, and five and ten and for 25 cents a day—when he gets it, and there are all sorts of deductions for insurance for the Tommy. (Tommy, a genius for fines), for all sorts of things, and if you think about it, this remains, you know it is positively cruel to let Tommy Atkins fight his fight for money. (Tommy, Oh no, oh no Tommy Atkins fights something for money, he would be a lot greater than money.) Tommy Atkins does not fight for money. Tommy was equal to the occasion. He looked up at his Prussian and he asked him what he fought for. "I fight for honor," said the Prussian. "Oh, yes," said Tommy, "we are fighting for what we haven't got."

The Dutch Kaiser in Holland

Holland will permit William Hohenzollern to remain on Dutch soil on the same terms of internment as other high officers of the German army. He has taken the name of Count William Hohenzollern, and is expected to buy an estate and remain in Holland, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. The Telegraph of Amsterdam says that he was allowed to take only his personal property from his train, the non-personal property which was brought to Holland being confiscated, as is usual in internment cases. Recent dispatches have stated that the former emperor had taken a carload of archives with him into Holland.

"Rule Britannia" in German Prison

Hon. Dr. Beland Tells How Scotsman Celebrated New Year's

On returning home from his prison here in Germany, Hon. Dr. Beland told one prisoner. On New Year's eve, in 1916, he was making his rounds as jail surgeon and came to the cell of a stalwart Scottish veteran, who always spoke with "the accent of the heather." As he turned away the Scot—his name was Kirkpatrick—whispered to him: "It's possible I'll be celebrating the New Year a wee bit when it comes." Dr. Beland pleaded for particulars, for he thought the Scot planned an escape, which he feared might result fatally as the guard was especially vigilant. But he could secure no information from the taciturn man. He was wakeful and anxious, for he was fond of his fellow prisoner.

The midnight hour had just tolled, however, when, from the Scot's cell, in a clear, resonant baritone, with an unmistakable accent, he uttered the words of "Rule, Britannia," sung with the full vigor of a strong voice—and sung through to the end. "The whole prison was alive in a moment," said Dr. Beland. The prisoners crowded to the window, clapping their hands, cheering, and joining in the chorus. So led by the gallant Scot, there was heartily sung the centre of Berlin that New Year morning the rousing declaration that Britain rules the waves and that Britons never will be slaves. The Germans set an investigation on foot, but so far as we heard, nothing definite came of it."

Looting King's Palace

Germans in Belgium are looting the palace of King Albert, according to word received from Amsterdam. During the last week, Germans have brought into Holland pictures, furniture and books, no doubt to belong to the king's collection. Originally the Germans declared King Albert's possessions are to be "quite sacred" to them.

New War Measure

Make Your Sugar Go Farther by Sweetening It

"On top of the news of short sugar rations comes the welcome announcement by the food administration that sugar can be sweetened. As a measure it is possible to increase the sweetness of sugar to almost one-third of its normal sweetening power, the administration says.

The discovery has been made by J. J. Williams, a member of the Minnesota division of the American Chemical Company, who has achieved the seemingly impossible, and who has made it possible for any woman to make her sugar supply go farther by a very simple process.

When cane sugar is subjected to a chemical change it is converted into what is known as invert sugar, which, weight for weight, is about 30 per cent. sweeter than cane sugar; thus, 100 pounds of cane sugar makes a little more than 105 pounds of invert sugar, which has the same sweetening power as 135 pounds of cane sugar. The economy in sweetening is readily apparent, although the invert sugar has no more food value than the cane sugar.

The usability of invert sugar is a very simple matter, and, in fact, it takes place to some extent in the making of jelly. The process is so readily followed that it can be used in water and one-fifth ounce of tartaric acid, which can be obtained at any drug store. Both slowly in a covered kettle for from thirty to thirty-five minutes. If boiled longer, the syrup tends to darken and develop a sticky like corn syrup.

This syrup can be used for sweetening of cooked fruit, cereals, ice cream, etc., although it may not be relied on for coffee.

It must be borne in mind in using this syrup that it must be substituted for granulated sugar weight for weight, and not volume for volume, since about three-fourths of a cup of syrup is equal to about one full cup of granulated sugar. Inverted sugar is that it cannot be obtained in dry form.

Relief for the Depressed.—Physical and mental depression usually have their origin in a disordered state of the stomach and liver, as when these organs are deranged in their action the whole system is affected. Try Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They remove the digestive processes, act benevolently on the nerves and restore the spirits as no other pills will. They are cheap, simple and sure, and the effects are lasting.

Pearl-Sickness

It is a very strange property of pearls that they perish when not worn. Experts define it, as a form of atrophy. The pearls literally die by contact with humanity. Madame Thiers' magnificent pearls at Versailles were said to have died when they came in contact with the king. They stipulated that they were never to be taken out of their case.

Shipbuilding in Canada

Contracts for Seven New Steel Vessels Have Been Made

The government is making good progress with its $60,000,000 shipbuilding program for this year. With the completion of the imperial munitions board's contracts, better than new ships or government orders are now rapidly becoming available. Altogether twenty ships are now under contract for the marine department with three additional freighters of 10,500 tons each to be laid down no later than Nov. 1 in the new Halifax yards.

Contracts for seven new steel vessels aggregating 28,650 tons have just been made. The Davis Company of Lewis will build two, of 5,100 tons each; the British American shipbuilding company of Welland, two, of 3,450 tons each; the Port Arthur shipbuilding company, two, of 3,400 tons each; and the Collingwood shipbuilding company, one, of 3,750 tons.

Grapes of Spanish Origin

A little while ago, much travelled sea captain was in Ireland. He was attracted by some grapes, which he was certain were similar to those he had known in California. "Mission" grapes, so called because they were introduced into that country by Spanish missionaries. He made inquiries and found that the grapes were grown from cuttings of vines which formed part of the cargo of the Spanish Armada, hence their being of Spanish origin.

AN AGE OF WEAK NERVES

"No heart for anything" is the cry of thousands of men and women who might be made well by the new, red blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, actually nerve tonic.

Misery day and night is the lot of hosts of men and women who are today the victims of weak nerves. Their pale, drawn faces and their memory often fail. The nervous weakness means that they are tortured by morbid thoughts and unaccountable fears. These sufferers are painfully sensitive and easily agitated by some chance remark. Sleeplessness, loss of energy and strength; their eyes are sunken, their limbs tremble, appetite is poor and memory often fails. The nervous exhaustion is one of the most serious evils affecting men and women today. The only way to bring back sound, vigorous health is to feed the starved nerves which are clamoring for food. The new, red blood, good blood can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which accounts for the great number of cures of nervous diseases brought about by this powerful blood builder and nerve restorer. Through the fair use of this medicine thousands of despondent people have been made bright, active and strong.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

What the Whippet Is

British Invention Makes 12 Miles An Hour

Recent capture of the battleship have spoken of tanks and whippets being used by the allies. Everyone knows the tank to be a land battleship of a sort. The whippet, a heavily armored type, a fort ready to stand and hold out to the end, if necessary. The whippet is a smaller tank that can dash all round a battlefield and depend on swiftness and speed as the main weapon. The whippet is a mobile tank, a land "destroyer" that will give the enemy a bad time. It has caterpillar treads of the usual design, arranged on either side of a sort of flat body. On the platform of the flatbed is mounted a single turret which houses the crew and the several machine guns with which the whippet is armed. The flatbed body measures 18 feet in length, while the turret is five feet in height. The engine is placed at the rear of the gun turret in a separate enclosed armored housing.

It appears that the whippet tank can readily make 12 miles an hour, and a fully equipped Teuton infantryman may soon require a motor cycle on which to retreat. It is a British invention.

Many children die from the assaults of worms, and the first care of parents should be to see that their infants are free from these pests. A vermifuge that can be depended on is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only expel worms from the system, but act as a health-giving medicine and a remedy for many of the ailments that beset infants, enfolding them and endangering their lives.

Gallant Guernseyman

Out of a population of 45,000, it is estimated that 3,000 men from Guernsey have joined the forces. The Guernsey battalions have also acquitted themselves admirably, especially in the Cambrai section, and have drawn economies from the press of the world's war. King, as Duke of Normandy, will be proud of the achievements of the men of Guernsey, who, by the way, enjoy many quiet privileges granted to them by ancient and royal charters.

German Influence in Mexico

Trying to Bring That Country Into Conflict With United States

There is every indication that the influence of Germany is at work in Mexico in an effort to bring that country into conflict with the United States, and thus necessitate the sending of a large body of troops there, which would be sent to the west front. At the same time Germany is striving to prevent the Pan American conference from getting to the allies for the operation of ships of all kinds, as well as for military purposes, by using her utmost influence with the Mexican government.

A break with Mexico would also compel the United States to divert as many battleships as possible to the port of Tampico. This important port, which is the great centre of the Mexican oil industry, is situated on the Pacific coast, seven miles from the sea, and is at present guarded by American battleships to protect the interests of American oil companies.

Mexico's oil is being extensively used at the present time on allied vessels and the oil decree of President Carranza, amounting to a de facto confiscation of the claims of British and American companies, would seriously hamper allied naval operations. The Mexican government, replying to a protest from Great Britain, declared that it does not recognize the right of any foreign government to protest against Carranza's oil decree. It is proper to determine whether the oil lands decree was unjust and consider the government of Great Britain and the United States have joined in a diplomatic effort to induce Carranza to rescind the decree.

The petroleum industry of Mexico has been the centre of one of her industrial development. Throughout the territory of the gulf coast plain from Tampico to Comstock there are rich oil deposits, most of which are particularly adapted for use in fuel for the petroleum production of Mexico was 16,700,000 barrels and has shown a steady increase since that time.

CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

"You say to the drug store man, 'Give me a small bottle of frezolon.' This will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet."

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn relieves the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, dries up and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This new way will lift one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati physician, who has used it for years, and is now being sold in a moment, and simply lifts up the corn or callus without irritating the skin.

U. S. Sombrero Hat to Go

The death knell of the sombrero type of hat which has been a great favorite with American soldiers in England, is sounded in a general order issued by the American headquarters in London. The order states that all officers and enlisted men on duty in England will cease to wear the service hat after August, and will turn in such hats to the quartermaster.

The regulation headgear in future will be the "overcoat cap" similar to that worn by the British aviators.

The Length of Wars

The Bigger and More Costly the War the Longer Its Duration

Four years ago many wisacres declared that the war would be a long one, and the enormous expense involved, the war could not last more than a year or two. Kitchener was thought to be magnifying its possibilities when he began calculating that the war would last at least a year. The war has lasted longer than any of the wars of the last century, although it is costing less money than most of all them put together. The American Civil War, which began April 12, 1861, lasted for less than four years. The Crimean War, which was opened in 1853, lasted two and a half years. The Boer War was considered a long one, but it lasted less than three years. The Russo-Japanese War began in February 1904, and was over late in 1905. Of these smaller wars, the American Civil War was the longest. The bigger the war and the more costly, the longer its duration, it seems. From the Ottawa Journal Press.

Glycerine Wanted For War Needs

Total Requirements for Allies from U. S. Will Reach Huge Amount

Considerable activity has been created in the glycerine trade of the United States by the large orders placed for the governments of Great Britain and Italy to be delivered within the next few months. The quantity which will go to the two allied governments is estimated at 15,000,000 pounds. Prices have been virtually decided upon. Canada's requirements for dynamite glycerine are believed to be extensive also, according to reports from United States trade circles, and the amount which the Dominion will secure is expected to bring the total amount for export up to 20,000,000 pounds. This amount was named some time ago at a conference in Washington as the quantity that would be needed for export for war needs.

A drafted man who formerly was a milkman at New Rochelle, N.Y., recently wrote home: "I like army life, but only if it is nights hard to be held until 5.30 in the morning."

OUR BOYS IN EUROPE

AND HOME PROTECTION

The men on the firing line represent the pick of our country's youth. Many were rejected because of physical deficiency. Many times the kidneys were to blame.

If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce's of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily between meals. This prevents a drug store, Anuric (double strength). This "Anuric" drives the toxic matter out and cures backache and rheumatism.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best of condition, we must drink plenty of water, with only little meat once a day, is the most essential. Drink plenty of pure water, and Anuric, one time a day for a month.

Send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial pkg. Anuric—many lines more potent than like eliminates uric acid as hot water melle. A short trial will convince you.

Dr. Pierce's Anuric is a powerful sugar, my experience with Anuric. I have been troubled with rheumatism in right hand and hand for several years, lately in left shoulder. The only way I could get the Anuric was to get it had great difficulty to sit down and more to get up. Lastly I had a doctor decide to recommend it. I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery several times with the most satisfactory results. I can now get up and move with the kidney. There is nothing nearly so good, like Anuric. —Gordon Ross, cor. Duke and Waterloo.

Doesn't Pay This Time

War Is Worst Kind of Bad Business For the Kaiser

One of the sayings of the Kaiser that found much favor with his devoted people was this: "Manufacture pays 5 per cent; international trade, 15 per cent, but war pays 1,000 per cent."

He was speaking of previous wars when he said that, and holding out hopes concerning this one.

In former wars against Austria, Denmark, and France, the Prussian militarists got results which enabled them to talk to business men about war as the biggest of all business enterprises. There were provinces and seaports, rivers, canals, mines and ore deposits to be annexed, there were rich territories to be looted and great war indemnities to be levied. The whole thing was so simple that even the stupidest German could understand it. War paid against the Danes, Austrians, and French, and it was but necessary to be ready, strong and ruthless, and on a much larger scale it could be made to pay enormously. So at it they went.

It isn't going to pay this time. That is one thing that the world means to make sure of—that this war does not pay Prussia and Germany, that it has not been good business, but bad, disastrous business, and a class of undertaking never again to be thought of as a means of profit and advantage. The Prussian big business method has got to be discredited in Prussia.

It is not enough, therefore, for the Huns to get out of France and vacate and restore Belgium. They cannot be allowed to "make war pay" at the expense of Russia. They have got to come out of this war knowing that it wasn't pay, but the worst kind of bad business ever attempted. Talk is of no use in this matter. They have got to be shown that war is a thing out of which they emerge very bad losers. Then they will settle down to a new way of thinking.

Mother Goose

Was a Real Person and Lived in Boston

Perhaps the most famous woman that ever lived was Mother Goose. Other women, particularly a few bad ones, have enjoyed celebrity, but she achieved immortality. She is called Mother Goose because that was her name. For she was a real person, and lived in the city of Boston. She lived in a little one-story house with a roof that sloped almost down to the ground—just such a house as one might expect Mother Goose to occupy—not far from the Common.

The house vanished long ago, but the church in which she was accustomed regularly to worship still stands. It is the famous Old South Church.

Her maiden name was Elizabeth Foster. In fact, she was an old maid, twenty-eight years of age—quite elderly for an unmarried woman in those days—when, in 1655, she met and became the wife of Isaac Goos. She had children and grandchildren, and it was for the latter that she wrote her rhymes, which were first published by Thomas Fleet, her son-in-law, in Boston.

Mother Goose died in 1757, aged ninety-two.

Always Serviceable.—Most pills lose their properties with age. Not so with Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. The pill mass is so compounded that their strength and effectiveness is preserved and the pills can be carried anywhere without fear of losing their potency. This is a quality that few pills possess. Some pills lose their power, but not so with Parmelee's. They will maintain their freshness and potency for a long time.

Much Better Lovemal had been playing for high stakes and had lost. After spending all he had on Miss Brass he refused him.

"Turned you down, did you say?" asked a friend. "Well, old chap, it's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

"Yes, better indeed," replied the rejected one. "Better for the post-office authorities, the frontier, the senger boy, the confectioner, a dozen waiters, twice as many taxi drivers, the jeweller, and half the theatre in town."

Food in Italy and France

Meats are Scarce and Prices Extremely High

As bread and wheat products formed 52 per cent. of the French diet before the war, it has been a hardship to substitute other foods there. That is partly due to the fact that home baking is not customary and has not been for generations. Moreover the strain of years of war has made the people less adaptable to substitutes, even when they are comparatively easy to obtain. Until recently there were three meatless days a week, but conditions have been improved there through conservation on this side of the Atlantic, so that the restrictions have been removed.

In Italy the ministry of food has requisitioned the 1918 crops of wheat, barley and rye. The grain shortage has worked great hardship to Italy, because of the large part that bread and macaroni formerly played in the diet. Now macaroni is made with 45 per cent rice, and the entire cereal consumption of the nation has been reduced by one-fourth.

Large stores of grain were taken from Italy during the German advance there in the fall. In January there was a time when only one week's supply of food was on hand. But imports of grain have increased.

Refugees from the invaded districts have caused a severe drain on the food supplies of the rest of the country. Meats are scarce and the prices extreme. In May the food ministry was authorized to requisition meat for the civilian population as well as the army. Prices of requisitioned foods are generally less than of the others.

In sugar and butter supplies Italy is the poorest of the allies. There is no uniform sugar ration, but in the cities people can obtain only from two to four ounces a week.

Cardinal Mercier's Lament

Aged Prelate Is One of the Heroes of War

Neither ecclesiastical nor lay camouflage neither civil nor military twaddle, can dim the eye or influence the judgment of Cardinal Mercier of Belgium. He has lived throughout the horrors of all and what he has seen he is not afraid to tell. Because of his loyalty to truth and the cause of humanity the aged prelate will ever stand forth as one of the heroes of the war. This is what he says of the work of the Germans in his country:

"We can neither number our dead nor compute the loss of our property. Families hitherto living at ease are now in bitter woe. All community is at an end. All careers ruined. Industry is at a standstill. Thousands upon thousands of workmen without employment. In working women, shop girls, seized and deported, old men without the means of earning their bread, and poor souls forlorn in beds of sickness and fever crying, 'Oh Lord, how long, how long!'"

Peevish, pale, restless, and sickly children owe their condition to worms. Mercier's Worm Expeller will relieve them and restore health.

Some Low Priced Meats

Good Recipe Books Tell How to Cook Cheaper Meats

Certain parts of the butchered carcasses which provide us with meat are comparatively low in price. These parts have not been generally popular in this country although they are in great demand in Europe and also in the United States. Beef hearts, livers, tripe, ox tails, sheep's heads, calves' heads, pigs' feet and many other parts of the carcasses might well be used more freely in Canada than they are, thus relieving the pressure of the demand upon roasts, steaks and other higher priced cuts. Any good recipe book will tell you how to cook these cheaper meats and make of them delicious, tempting dishes.

WHILE AT WAR

Women Suffer At Home

Toronto, Ont.—"I consider Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription the very best of women's tonics. I suffered a severe nervous breakdown. I could not sleep and lived all the time. I took the 'Prescription' and just a few bottles completely built me up and relieved me of my nervous condition. It is a good medicine and I am glad to recommend it."—Miss ALMA SHERMAN, 250 Bloor St. E., Niagara Falls, Ont.—"I am safely and healthily enjoying my life. I had a lot of good. I at one time developed a woman's trouble my nerves were completely shattered and I was weak. I had severe backache and pain in my side, extending down into my limbs. I doctored, but did not get relieved of my ailment and was down and out when I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it is completely cured me and restored me to health and strength that I was able to do all my own work and other household duties. I do recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to weak and ailing women."—Miss JOSEPHINE, 36 Terrace Ave.

Favorite Prescription is an invigorating restorative, it does nothing and strengthening nerve and a positive remedy for the chronic weakness known as "Nervous Exhaustion."

The Road to Berlin

It Is a Straight Line Through the Air

From the western front the shortest route to Berlin lies through Belgium, crosses the Rhine at Cologne and continues north via Minden, Hanover and Spandau. The war and fear of war doubtless has deteriorated the roadbed and the rolling stock. It will be a long, hard road to travel.

There is another and shorter road to the capital of the German empire. It lies in a straight line through the air.

A man on a suburban train was discussing the war. "I wish," he said, raising his voice, "that a thousand American bombing planes were going to drop bombs on Berlin, at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon."

The whole car stirred. A thrill passed through every one at the very thought. The road to Berlin lies through the air.

Any afternoon at two o'clock that a thousand American bombing planes drop bombs on Berlin, that afternoon at three o'clock the war will be over.

The bomb fleet that will end the war is not as near as it should be. But it is coming, and the German high command knows it. When it is over, the waves above the Lusitania will cease shrieking for vengeance and will gently murmur "Peace."

CURING SKIN TROUBLES

So many people, both men and women, suffer from skin troubles, such as eczema, blotches, pimples and irritation of the face and scalp, that it is a great mistake for such sufferers and those with bad complexion to use any of the numerous greasy ointments. Often they could not do anything worse, for the greasy ointments clog the pores of the troubled skin and their condition actually becomes worse.

When there are pimples or eruptions, or an irritating or itching rash, a soothing boracic solution may help to allay the irritation, but of course that does not cure the trouble. Skin complaints come from an impure condition of the blood and will persist until the blood is thoroughly purified. It is well known that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have effected the best results in many forms of skin disorders and blemishes. This is due to the fact that these pills make new, rich blood, and that this new blood attacks the impurities that give rise to skin troubles and disperse them so that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure the skin disorders from within the system. The cure is sure and permanent.

It should be added that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a beneficial effect upon the general health. They increase the appetite and energy and cure diseases that arise from impure blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

It's the Other Way Now—Says

It seems strange to us to think of a man being a Puritan in the olden times; but during the early days of Puritanism, in Massachusetts a sea-captain, who was a Puritan, was given a public flogging for kissing his wife in the street, while the other way of the matter, the statute law declaring legal such a punishment for this open demonstration of affection.

Only Fifteen Feet in Width

Midjet Airplane Is Similar to Big

Albatross

The smallest British airplane now being manufactured are actually of less space than the largest birds. The great albatross has been known to measure nearly 15 feet from wing tip to wing tip. A certain type of midjet airplane recently exhibited in London is only 15 feet in width.

"These are the machines which we may expect to see after the war carrying our mails," declared Maj. Order of the British Aviation service, "and they will be almost as universal as the smart automobile mail vans of pre-war times. These small machines will be largely used by the postal authorities on account of the existing limitations of storage and starting grounds in our great cities. Postal aeroplanes, like railway aircraft, must be kept in the post office at least in the initial stages of the development."

"Later the problem may be solved by the use of pneumatic tube communication between the central post office and the postal aeroplanes. In delivering letters to distances of 250 miles or more, the big types of aeroplanes will be superseded by the small work small machines are likely to be much more serviceable."

"Dropping the bag by parachute will be given a good trial, and this, if successful, will be of great use in initiating the use of great mail while flying after the manner in which mail bags are now caught by express trains."

The Salvation Army 'Red Shield Campaign'

This campaign has now become an established fact in almost the whole of Southern Alberta.

Everywhere enthusiasm is evident in making it the success the cause really deserves.

"The World for God" has been the motto written in deeds of love and sacrifice, in human hearts, since the origin of the Salvation Army 53 years ago.

This has been freshly demonstrated during the four years in which, as an organization she has stood by "our boys." Bacon and eggs, sandwiches, doughnuts, pies, hot coffee and tea, cocoa and prayers, has been the heartening influence brought to bear on lives and hearts of the men who have so nobly, so victoriously, brought us freedom from Kaiserism and all its accompanying horrors.

Starving Germany, devastated Belgium and France have but begun to sing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," with trembling fear, lest the worst be not quite over.

Long months and years of listening to the shriek of shells forbids the buoyant, demonstrative joy of victory! Yet the quiet of "Peace on earth" has already taken hold. Can the Salvation Army but, hostel, hospital, children's home, and house of refuge be yet dispensed with? I think you answer with me. "We do not want it to be." Common gratitude to those who have been first to aid, last to appeal, "demands we do our best in this most opportune time."

Already faith (all it fancy if you will) hears the chiming of the glad bells of the greatest demonstration of "Peace on earth, and goodwill to men" the world has ever seen! "Can we aid Christmas joys in a most consistent far-reaching, as well as practical way?"

"Why, yes, just boost the S.A. Red Shield campaign in Crossfield!" Talk about it, write about it, pray about it, think about it, work at it, work for it, give for it, and in this vicinity I already see the flag of fly full mast!

Just a concentrated effort on everyone's part (that is you, too, is it not?)

Just a little pep and "go-at-it-iveness!" just a stalwart stride to Victory and it is won!

"From 'Somewhere in France.'"

We fried 1,200 eggs and gave out three or four thousand doughnuts, and many sandwiches and cups of coffee.

None of us slept last night. You see the troops were moving, and a hot tip and a bite in the wee hours give new life and spirit to our soldiers."

Another entree:—"Mrs. Commandant Huish fried just on 3,000 eggs in four hours, and she had not just come out to France in her first enthusiasm, but had been at it two or three years."

Have you sacrificed yet, equally with those on the ground floor? If not, "have a try."

L. I. BRYENTON,
Adjutant.
